

THE LAWYER

Jomati hires ex-Links global business boss

April 2010

Former Linklaters global business manager Jenny Jones has joined Jomati Consultants, the legal consultancy fronted by former Clifford Chance managing partner Tony Williams.

Jones worked for seven years at the magic circle firm, where she gained extensive experience in pricing strategies as well as other economic issues with an impact on law firms.

She has also worked as an independent consultant, advising international and domestic firms. The latest hire follows the arrival of head of research Richard Tromans in October 2009.